Hailed as "powerful" and "quietly unflinching," this searing documentary includes exclusive footage of patriotic young Americans who heeded the call for military service in Iraq— as they experience recruitment and training, combat, homecoming, and the struggle to reintegrate.

The terrible conflict in Iraq is but a prelude of the even more challenging battles the soldiers fought on returning home— with personal demons, an uncomprehending public, and an indifferent government. Each soldier becomes a new kind of hero, bearing witness and giving support to other veterans, and learning to fearlessly wield the most powerful weapon of all— the truth.
